Time Saving Beauty: 7 Products That Work Double Duty

By Alix Turoff

The new year is the perfect time to start making time for yourself. Between a full time job, working out, eating healthy, spending time with your girlfriends and cozying up with your guy, it can often be difficult to find time for your beauty routine. Neglecting the beauty department, though, isn't required. Rather, you just need to know which products to use in order to maximize your time. We've compiled a list of time saving beauty products so you can keep looking sharp in the New Year!

How To Wear Bright Makeup (And Not Look Clown-Like)

Yolanda Adams: On Real Beauty

Workout Routine To Try: Piloxing

Omega 3 Skincare: Pamper With Cecilia Wong's Omega-Rich Facials

Are You Neglecting Your Neck?

Healthy Breakfast Recipes: 5 Unique Oatmeal Toppings

Muface Daily Moisturizing Complex, $45

Who would've thought that this little bottle could do so many things? Ready for this: Muface's moisturizing complex gives skin a new glow, rehydrates skin, smoothes the complexion, acts as an antioxidant by protecting against free radicals and fighting the signs of aging and lessens the appearance of rosacea. Plus, the lightly scented organic oils and botanical ingredients make this product all natural!

CND SolarSpeed Spray, $19.90

Stealing some time for ourselves in a peaceful salon is one of the best ways to unwind, but drying can be tedious (especially when we always manage to smudge our nails before we leave). CND SolarSpeed Spray changed our lives by cutting drying time by more than half and ensuring that we left the salon chip free. Plus, it also moisturizes our nails and cuticles for a longer-lasting mani too!

Sally Hansen Color Quick Fast Dry Nail Color Pen, $8.49

When you don't have time for a salon manicure, throw this pen in your purse for a mess-free mani on the go. With 18 shades to choose from, there's a color for everyone. Just shake, click and apply to nails or toes. Plus, it's the fattest drying formula we've ever testes, making this the perfect polish for when sneaking in a manicure over your lunch break – or when you realize you need polish in a pinch!

New York Color Blushable Crème Stick, $3.99

Blush is one of the most important tools in our beauty arsenal. It's an instant pick-me-up and imparts a healthy glow. But, come lunchtime, we often don't have time to reapply (or the desire to lug our entire makeup bag to work each day), which is why we're loving NYC's crème blush stick. This stick is not only great for blush-on-the-go, but also doubles as a highlighter and lipstick too!
